DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

1. The information disclosure statement filed on 2/25/2004 has been considered.

Double Patenting

2. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

3. Claim 8 is rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 13 of U.S. Patent No. 6,720,897. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both sets of claims recite the same subject matter with colorable differences. For instance, the preamble of claim 8 of the present application recites "A method of removing....one sample period" whereas the preamble of '897 recites "A method of performing DEM...one sample period". Both sets of preambles perform the same function that is performing mismatch shaping also referred to shuffling or scrambling; besides, one common element of a shuffler is a dynamic element matching circuit that tracks the order of ones and zeroes of the digital output signals.

Art Unit: 2819

Claim 9 is rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 1 of U.S. Patent No. 6,720,897. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both sets of claims recite the same subject matter with colorable differences.

Claim 9 of the instant application recites "A system, having a plurality of means " whereas claim 1 of '897 recites "A method...having a plurality of steps"; in addition, claim 9 of the instant application reduces tones produced in the output data stream by the means of performing a DEM operation (means a, b) whereas claim 1 of '897 reduces tones by DEM operation of steps a, b.
